All:

I had planned to shut the Malone ER down today based on my freeboard inspection on 08/18/15. However during the last 48 hours approximately 10.5 inches of rain have fallen on the site, with more forecast over the weekend. Based on this rainfall and the uncertainty of hurricane Danny (current trajectory has potential to enter Gulf at unknown strength) I have decided to continue ER pumping operations until 09/04/15. I will re-inspect at time and make a decision on completion status.
